

We need your feedback!

If you live, work, own property, or recreate in a place served by the Land Use Planning Commission, you can help influence the future by giving your opinion.

What type of development is a good fit for your area?

Where should development be located?

Your feedback will help improve the Commission's zoning system.

Right now, new homes can be built in most places, but new zones for subdivisions or commercial development need to be within a mile by road of existing development. This policy, known as adjacency, encourages lower tax burdens, keeps land available for forestry, agriculture and recreation, and promotes the health of existing communities, but it is too blunt a tool. It needs improvement.

Complete the adjacency survey today. Online: www.maine.gov/DACF/LUPC/adjacency,

or call (207) 287-2619 to receive a paper copy

